Dr Willie Cilliers gesels oor sy besoeke aan sake-eienaars en sakekamers

Die vorige Vrydagaand was dit die Drakenstein Sakekamer se se Algemene Jaarvergadering in die Paarl.

“Dit is duidelik dat dié sakekamer baie georganiseerd is en as 'n sterk sakekamer met goeie leierskap funksioneer,” vertel dr Cilliers in die video.

Hy vertel ook oor die langnaweke in April-maand wat 'n welverdiende rustyd vir baie werknemers is.

Die AHi gesels ook in die nuusbrieff oor ons deelname aan die opstelling van 'n ekonomiese raamwerk vir die volgende vyf jaar in die Wes-Kaap. Op 4 Mei om 08:00 sal dié plan in diepte bespreek word by die Protea Hotel King George, waar ons 19 sakekamers en ander belangegroepe sal uitnooi.

Warning for middle-class South Africa

Financial services firm Deloitte says South African consumers remain under severe financial strain – while businesses are being exposed to much higher costs.

The group's latest Consumer Tracker for April showed that 41% of consumers feel that their financial position has worsened over the past year and are worried about their financial circumstances.

“Given the rising cost of food, based on the data, consumers are not only making greater trade-offs – such as purchasing lower-cost meat, buying more store brands and less costly ingredients – but are also being more frugal, mostly saving by reducing food waste, buying only essentials, and buying less than they want.”

Petrol bad, diesel good ahead of next week's price changes

Looking ahead, fluctuations in international product prices and rand weakness show the following under-recoveries (price increases) or over-recoveries (price decreases) for petrol and diesel as per data at 21 April 2023.

If these market conditions were to remain constant for the rest of the month – an unlikely scenario with the rand/dollar exchange rate ever changing and the oil price fluctuating – an increase of 65 cents is expected for 93 octane motorists and an increase of 61 cents for 95 users.

Meanwhile, diesel motorists would see something between a 26 and 51 cents per litre decrease.

Fuel	Price change
Petrol 93	increase of 65 cents per litre
Petrol 95	increase of 61 cents per litre
Diesel 0.05%	decrease of 51 cents per litre
Diesel 0.005%	decrease of 26 cents per litre
Illuminating Paraffin (wholesale)	decrease of 31 cents per litre

Eskom moves closer to finding its next CEO

Eskom chairman Mpho Makwana says that the power utility is getting closer to finding a new full-time chief executive officer (CEO).

Speaking at the Demand Side Management Indaba on Monday (24 April), the chairman said that the group had shortlisted five candidates for the position, and work was underway to find the new CEO.

All eyes are on electricity minister Kgosientsho Ramokgopa who has big plans to curtail load shedding as rolling blackouts continue to be severe and frequent.

Speaking at a ruling party ANC executive committee on Friday (21 April), the minister provided the following interventions to ease load shedding over six months, including; relying more on diesel-powered emergency generators, attending to fundamental deficiencies at the five worst power stations and exempting certain areas of the country from blackouts.

Bolaji Fatai has never set foot in an airplane, but that hasn't stopped him from building his own remotecontrolled model aircraft from trash and sending it soaring over the sprawl and chaos of Lagos, Nigeria's commercial capital.

On a recent cloudy day, the single-propeller plane withstood cross-winds high above a sandy football field and swooped low over the heads of onlookers in Oworonshoki, the poor neighbourhood where Fatai lives in the east of the city.
